Every year, thousands of college students invade Washington, D.C. and the fifty state capitals to volunteer as political interns. Unfortunately, they are rarely able to "hit the ground running," lacking the tools to help them do so. The Insider’s Guide to Political Internships provides those tools. This volume contains practical, concise essays written by political professors. Every year, thousands of college students invade Washington, D.C. and the fifty state capitals to volunteer as political interns. Two, you’re most likely a kind person who wants to positive change in the world. Getting on the HR manager’s good side is always a good way to stand out. University Projects. Were you involved in any projects while at the university? Started a book club or were part of the student council? Feel free to include this information as it shows initiative on your part, and that you’re not afraid to take charge. Anything that is a passion project on your side is a great way to show off your personality and stand out from other candidates.